

Considering Graduation Gown Rentals? Buy Instead to Save Time and Money

Graduation is one of the most memorable moments in a student's life, and for those responsible for organizing the ceremony, every detail counts. As you prepare for this significant event, one decision that can have a big impact is whether to rent or buy your graduation caps and gowns.

At Graduation Authority, we believe buying your regalia offers numerous advantages over renting, and we're here to share why this choice can save you time and money.

1. Less Work, More Control

Renting graduation regalia often involves more work than it's worth. From distributing or shipping the items to students, to making sure they're returned on time, the process can become a logistical nightmare. With rented caps and gowns, you are stuck dealing with timelines, loss or damage fees, and the constant worry that things won't go smoothly. Buying your graduation regalia from Graduation Authority eliminates these concerns. Once your order arrives, it's yours to keep. No having to coordinate a return shipment more shipping back, no more damage worries, and no more stress about meeting a return deadline. Plus, our Graduation Planning Experts are here to handle everything for you, ensuring a seamless experience from start to finish.

2. Comparable Price, Better Value

Many schools assume that renting is the most affordable option. But when you factor in the hassle of managing rentals and the often-hidden fees associated with returns or late shipments, the price point for renting often comes close to (or can even exceed) buying. And with the added benefit of keeper regalia, your graduates will receive a keepsake they can appreciate long after graduation, while your faculty will be able to reuse their set year after year. Our prices are competitive, and we offer options to fit any school's budget, no matter the size or needs. So why not invest in quality items that will last year after year.

3. More Choice, More Customization

When you rent caps and gowns, you're usually limited to a set selection of colors and styles. Rental companies typically don't offer much in the way of personalization, leaving you with a generic, one-size-fits-all approach. Buying from Graduation Authority, on the other hand, gives you access to a wide array of colors, styles, and unlimited customization options. Take a basic gown to the next level by embroidering your school's logo, name, or graduation date, adding a secondary color through sleeve trim or piping, or custom matching your school's branding colors. Whatever your need, we've got you covered. You can even choose from different gown fabrics and styles, ensuring that each graduate has the perfect look for their special day. The power of customization is in your hands!

4. Superior Quality

When it comes to graduation regalia, quality matters. Unfortunately, many rental companies use low-quality materials that don't hold up well over time. Gowns may be made from flimsy fabrics, and caps may not be as sturdy, leaving your students with a subpar experience. Graduation Authority takes pride in offering top-tier products. Our gowns are crafted from durable fabrics that look and feel great, and we offer multiple cap options to ensure a perfect fit.

We are confident that our regalia will exceed your expectations, which is why we offer FREE product samples so you can compare our quality to your current supplier. Simply fill out this form or contact us directly at orders@graduationauthority.com to get a sample order started.
